

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A master device interactively distributes a television signal to a remote device for remote display with low latency between a user input and a television signal change.